Dissemination of Cooperative Systems' benefits through cooperation between FOTs at EU and international level

Is there a possibility to jointly disseminate the results of the FOTs? How much can be done jointly?

Yes, depending on the kind of services and the information to be disseminated. Possible dissemination tools:

- Cross-participation in Workshops organised by FOTs projects
- Joint events organised at different levels (i.e. EC, FOTnet, etc.)
- Common sessions in big Congresses
- Cross-linking of information on each other websites

Could this also be done at EU-US level? At national level?

- Yes at European level, because of the proximity, all the tools listed above can be used,
- while at US level a strategic and coordinated dialogue makes more sense.
- As for the national level, joint dissemination should be done more on a case-by-case basis via consultation with national ITS organisation. The idea of common articles in magazines should also be considered.

Should we already plan today what we can disseminate jointly once the results are available?

- given the complexity and lengthy duration of FOTs, it makes more sense to adopt a more customised approach and treat this issue on a more certain and realistic basis
